Lincoln Memorials.

The following are from the well-known collection of O. H. Oldroyd, Springfield, Ill., who has interested himself for years in collecting everything pertaining to Lincoln:

100. Large photo-portrait from an original negative taken just before he left for Washington and supposed to be the only one in existence previous to his inauguration as President. With autograph attached. Very desirable.
101. Piece of white silk ribbon taken from the coffin of Lincoln at Springfield.
102. Branch from tree planted by Lincoln before his residence in Springfield.
103. Shingle from Lincoln's home in Springfield.
104. War envelopes with portraits of Lincoln, some in mourning. 14 pieces.
105. War Songs on death of Lincoln. 3 pieces.
106. Large steel engravings of Lincoln, from books. 3 pieces.
107. The Home and Tomb of Lincoln, illustrated sheet issued in 1865. Mourning card by Magee. Lincoln Dioramic Association Ticket. 3 pieces.
108. Printed letter to General McClellan from Lincoln, dated April 9th, 1862, criticising his actions.

The following pamphlets were all issued in 1865, just after Lincoln's death, unless otherwise stated. They are nearly all of considerable rarity.

109. PAMPHLETS. Address of Lincoln at Cooper Institute, February 27, 1860. Issued in 1860. 32 pages.
110. "Death of Lincoln," by Abott A. Abott. Mourning borders. 12 pages.

111. "Gems from Abraham Lincoln." With portrait. Mourning borders. 32 pages.

119. Address by John Fowler, jr., New Rochelle, N. Y., April 20, 1865. 28 pages.
120. Sermons. St. Clement's church, Philadelphia; St. Thomas', New York; Surrey chapel, London; St. James', Birmingham, Conn. 22 to 50 pages. 4 pieces.
121. Life of Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson, by John Savage. 136 pages.
122. Trial of Lincoln by the Great Statesmen of the Republic. A curious pamphlet attempting to convict Lincoln of treason by the utterances of older statesmen compared with his own. Suppressed in 1863 but republished in 1867. 30 pages.
123. Addresses at unveiling of Lincoln Monument, 1874. 78 pages.
124. Lincoln Guard of Honor. First memorial service, Apr. 15th, 1880. 16 pages.

Unused Postal Cards.

The following collection of 177 different unused cards is one of the finest I have came across. It embraces specimens from nearly every country issuing, and many are quite rare. Among the lots are a number of double return cards. If a sufficient starting bid is made they will be sold together. Each lot contains no duplicates.
